

Real Boom from a Practice Bomb

Talk about lucky to be alive. This ordnanceman found out that a practice bomb can do almost as much damage as the real thing. He was placing one in a crate when it exploded in his face, giving him quite a conversation piece.

Safety is all about learning from the mistakes others have made. We've been fortunate to have people come forward with a desire to share their stories. Their hope is to educate others and keep them from learning hard lessons the hard way.