

Et tu Dump't'e

Ooops. After raising the bed of this dump truck, the driver found out he should have looked first. The extended top caught some telephone wires and caused quite a disruption.

This type of mishap is completely preventable. A simple risk assessment and examination of the area would have brought attention to the wires.

The moral: If you must take a dump somewhere, clear the area first.